FORT SASKATCHEWAN NEWS.
Fort Saskatchewan, May 29.—Last Monday evening the Methodist church building was filled to overflowing by an audience which assembled at a concert given by Professor S. Jones. The professor is justly popular in this district, not only on account of his ability, which is great, but also for help which he is always willing to give to any musical entertainment. Those who were present greatly enjoyed the program, which was exceedingly well rendered by Professor Jones and the talented players and vocalists who assisted him.

An adjourned meeting of ratepayers of this village was held in the Masonic Hall here last evening and it was decided to accept the offer of the Northwest government with regard to the ferry at Fort Saskatchewan. Under this arrangement the ferry will belong to the village and be operated by the village authorities. A low rate of toll will be charged.

Major Constantine returned from Ontario last Tuesday and expects to leave for Fort McPherson on Saturday, the 30th inst.

The Union Bank is well established in its new building on Government street, next to the Masonic House.

Mr. E. Simmon has built a large implement warehouse on Ross street and will soon have a full supply of farming implements there for sale.

Mr. John Alton had the misfortune to slip and give his ankle a nasty wrench while working on a building belonging to Larose and Sterrett.

Mr. D. L. Clink was in town today. He is taking an outfit of supplies down the river to the Barri colony.

The hotels here are filled every night with new settlers coming into this section of Alberta.

John McCallum and son left this week for Whitford, where Mr. McCallum has taken charge of Wilkin & Company's store, formerly owned by A. Whitford.

Edgar Walker, son of Mr. Wm. Walker, Agricola, was on Wednesday last married to Miss Rita, daughter of the same name of Mr. Johnson Carcasson and was performed by Rev. A. R. Aldridge, B. A.

ESTABLISHMENT OF SCHOOLS

Considerable portions of the last few issues of the Northwest Territories Gazette are taken up by notices of the creation of school districts. The large proportion of these new districts are being organized in Alberta. This is a very gratifying and pleasing state of affairs. No higher indication of our country's future greatness need be looked for than this extensive establishment of school districts and schools. Having principles of educational discipline instilled in the boy's mine is very material influence on the future social life of our country.

— The baseball match between Strathcona and Edmonton on the exhibition grounds here last evening did not materialize. The rain which commenced about seven o'clock and which looked as if it would continue, stopped the game. The Strathcona boys came over and a practice game was played. ## EDMONTON MARKETS

The grain market is practically dead. No oats are offering and scarcely any wheat. The best wheat brings fifty-eight cents a bushel.

Hay.—The hay market continues strong. A considerable amount is offering and all is picked up at prices ranging from nine to twelve dollars a ton according to the quality of the hay and the condition of the market at the time.

Potatoes.—Old potatoes seem to be slightly more plentiful. From sixty to sixty-five cents in trade is being offered.

Butter.—The demand for good butter continues strong. For this twenty-five cents a pound is being paid. For inferior grades the price drops to twenty and fifteen cents a pound.

Eggs.—A very large number of eggs are being brought in. The price paid today is 12-12 cents a dozen with a probability of a further drop shortly.

Beef.—Good beef cattle bring from 4 to 4-1/4 cents a pound live weight. The market is weaker at this season of the year. Very few cattle are being shipped out and the local butchers are fairly well supplied. Cattle are now being turned out on the grass.

Hogs.—The hog market has advanced and the demand continues very strong at from 5-1/4 to 5-1/2 cents a pound live weight. There is a strong local and shipping demand.

Poultry.—Poultry, which is offered only at occasional intervals, brings fifteen cents a pound dressed.

Bulletin Correspondence.
The Gamey case, which loomed so large in the public eye a month ago, has been gradually dwindling in prominence until now that the evidence is all in and the decision is approaching it is hardly a matter of mention. There could hardly have been a more complete fizzling out of what promised at first to be a stupendous explosion. The question at issue was whether J. R. Stratton, a member of the Ontario government, had paid, or caused to be paid Gamey three thousand dollars as the price of the transfer of his allegiance in the Ontario Legislature from the opposition to the Government. In regard to this there can be only one decision passed upon the evidence given or upon the argument of the leading council for the prosecution, that is to say of Gamey's side of the case,—and that is that there is no evidence of such payment except the word of Gamey; whose word is judged by his conduct, and motives as appearing in the evidence could not be accepted as sufficient evidence in proof of anything. Gamey's word was specifically contradicted by Stratton, and remains without corroborative evidence. That Gamey had $3,000 was proven, but where the money came from is as great a mystery today as it ever was, although every means was exhausted to find its source. Mr. S. H. Blake, who acted as counsel for Gamey, did not attempt to fix the payment of this money upon Stratton, and as little did he attempt to take account for its being in Gamey's possession. His whole accusation rested on the political side of the case, regarding which there was no dispute, and which constituted no other than a political offence on the part of Gamey himself. It was admitted that Gamey was elected as a Conservative, but that finding the Ross government in power he offered to change his allegiance in consideration of being recognized officially as a government supporter first by the protest against his election being dropped, and second by his being accorded the patronage of his district. This consideration, it appears, was accorded him and he then avowed himself a supporter of the Ross government. This Mr. Blake considered a crime against the country; and it no doubt was a breach of faith on the part of Gamey towards his supporters, but it is difficult to say what else a government could, would or should do after such a support and recognize it in the usual way. All the evidence would indicate that Gamey is a thoroughly unreliable man, and that as he became a traitor to his constituency, so he afterwards decided to become a traitor to the Ross government, possibly and indeed more than probably, because he had not received further consideration at their hands. He then determined to account for his first change of allegiance by alleging the receipt of money and by acting as the exploder of a conspiracy, at once to destroy the government and re-establish himself in credit with the opposition which his action would bring into power. Had he been able to prove his allegations regarding the receipt of the money there is no question that his plot would have been successful. But, having failed in that, he is utterly and absolutely discredited and the Ross government is strengthened rather than weakened by having successfully stood such an extreme test, and such a bitter and determined attack. From the moment the charges were made in the House the government led by Mr. Ross declared that they had only one object in view, and that was to get at the truth. To this end they placed the case before an impartial commission of judges, to whom every facility and authority was given so that the truth might be discovered. Their attitude in regard to the charges, not less than the result of the investigation, has been entirely to their credit, and must result in strengthening them greatly in the confidence of the country.

The surveys conform to existing ones, and the streets will be projected to their legitimate confines. Building Sites on the verge of the hill overlooking the mighty Saskatchewan, the foliage and verdure of whose banks is not exceeded by the fiercest tropics or softest Pacific scenes, abound. METHODIST DISTRICT MEETING

The district meeting opened again yesterday morning with devotional exercises. The business usually occupies only two days, but owing to the extent of the district, the third day was needed this year.

The minutes of the last session were read and adopted. The chairman then proceeded with the remaining routine work of the meeting. Rev. J. H. Toole, of Red Deer, was elected to represent the district on the "stationing" committee of conference to be held in Winnipeg next June. Rev. A. R. Aldridge was elected reserve representative. The necessary committee to represent us at Conference were chosen.

The meeting adjourned on motion.

The session assembled in the afternoon to finish the business of the year. The following is a report of part of the work. Number of preaching places in the district, 138, an increase of 34 over last year. Number of Sunday schools in the district 38, an increase of 18 over last year. Officers of Sunday schools 315, an increase of 114 over last year. Number of scholars in Sunday schools of the district 2,354, an increase of 861 over last year. Total force of schools, 2,644. Money raised for school purposes $1,244.00. There are in Edmonton district 18 Epworth Leagues. Total Epworth League force 460, an increase of 230.

Moved and seconded that the next district meeting be held at Edmonton. A resolution was passed recommending the organization of the several leagues of the districts into district leagues with the object of supporting a mission. A resolution was passed recommending the division of this district into two districts, viz: Central Alberta and Edmonton districts. This closed the general session and a session of the ministers was called and business was concluded.

The ministers then left, for their respective fields, all business being satisfactorily settled for another year.

THE SURTAX POSTPONED

The following from the report of the recent proceedings of the House of Commons will be of interest to importers of German goods:

"The minister of customs announced an extension of the time for bringing in goods from Germany exempt from the new surtax. When the surtax was announced in the budget speech it was declared that all goods ordered from Germany before May 16th, and entered at the Canadian customs before June 30th should be exempt from the tax. Mr. Paterson, replying to Mr. Lawrence, said that many communications had been received on this matter

It had been represented that orders placed in Germany before April 16th were for goods that had to be manufactured and therefore could not be delivered in this country by June 30th. Accordingly, the minister said, he had decided to recommend to his colleagues of the government that the time for receiving goods ordered in Germany before May 16th be extended to Sept. 30th. This would allow goods destined for British Columbia ample time to reach their destination before the tax would go into force, even allowing for delay in forwarding them from Montreal."
